

Riverside JS Workshop

WHO WE ARE:

Riverside JS Workshop is a group of engaged JavaScript developers with different skill levels, who share their experience and knowledge with each other. Our goal is to help new developers become professional developers and to help professional developers stay razor sharp. We also like to have a little fun along the way.

We host a monthly workshop, currently at the awesome Riverside IO workspace, where we provide all our members the opportunity to solve real-world problems in a collaborative environment. We are not a presentation-based user group. We are fully hands on, working from the simple principle that people learn by doing.

We are also organized online through our Google+ community and our website (www.RiversideJS.net), where we provide great educational resources for new developers.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED:

Becoming part of the Riverside JS Workshop is simple. Here's what you need to do:

- (1) Join our Meetup.com group at <http://www.meetup.com/RiversideJS/>
- (2) Contact the workshop organizer by email (riverside.jsw@gmail.com) to get access to our Google+ community, workshop schedule and other group resources.
- (3) Attend our monthly workshop. Attempt to solve group coding challenges, and engage with others online.

WHY WE LOVE THE RIVERSIDE IO:

The Riverside IO is the perfect environment for our workshop. Not only is it a great facility, in terms of its resources, but it has an entrepreneurial and creative energy that is almost tangible. It attracts the best and the brightest technical minds in the area, which creates a natural synergy for us: referring potential new members to the IO while they help promote our group. The Riverside JS Workshop has found a home there and is grateful for that.
